MEDIA RELEASE

ABN Group appoints Elizabeth Hunter as independent Advisory Board member

ABN Group is pleased to announce the appointment of Elizabeth Hunter as ABN Group's latest Advisory Board Member.

Dale Alcock, ABN Group Managing Director said Hunter's appointment follows an extensive search for an Advisory Board Member with experience in people and executive development, culture-focused leadership and people strategies.

"Elizabeth is seasoned executive and board advisor," said Mr Alcock. "She brings strong capability and experience from a career spanning industrial services, banking and finance, manufacturing, and health."

Currently a Partner at Dealside, Elizabeth specialises in the people dimensions of growth for private companies, business families, and investment firms.

Elizabeth is a Non-Executive Director of Timberlink Australia, an Advisory Board Member for ABBE Group, and a member of the Governance Committee for Netball Australia.

For 15 years, Elizabeth held Chief People Officer roles at multiple ASX50 companies, working with executive teams and boards to address culture development, complex growth opportunities, people risk management, and leadership development.

Elizabeth joins Andy Weir and John Meacock as ABN Group's independent advisory members.

"We anticipate Elizabeth's addition will have tangible and positive impacts for our employees, customers, and for the Group as a whole," said Mr Alcock, "as has been the case with both Andy and John."

"Elizabeth's appointment is effective from 1 February 2026, and we look forward to working closely with her over the coming years."
